‘PEACE MAKES THE DIFFERENCE’

Yes she makes the difference

She is actually the reference

Though neglected by the leaders

Who care about nothing than their orders?

Her absence cause commotion

An upside down motion

Yes she makes the difference

She is freedom from disturbance

The absence of hostility and violence

The notion known by everyone

Who rather choose to do the opposite?

They talk of it on their lips

But in their hearts it always skips

We often refuse her offer of tranquility

Choosing what seems to be the normality

Then destruction overtakes the mind

The instability of its kind

The war, the noise, the differences, the violence, the hate, the conflict, the fear, all this in her absence

Yes she makes the difference.

She is peace

This then is what makes the difference

Her presence signifies health

Far better than any wealth

A state of Harmony

Accepting every difference

Choosing living together in diversity

Her presence banks every door of hatred

She is identified with love

Yes she makes the difference

The assurance she gives is like the feeling a new born has in the arms of his mother

She makes compromises

Just like a father will correct and yet love his child

Indeed she is a gift from the creator

He who gives it in abundance

She is at your door knocking

Open it and be different

Because peace makes the difference
