

TEYINDZE MALVIS

On a faithful Morning, i was informed by a friend about a workshop that was to drill people on the importance of Peace. I was almost giving a deaf ear but heard it was organized strictly for Internally Displaced Persons which i was one. This caught my attention.

I finally attended that workshop in Mbouda organized by change Communications. Permit me say this was one of a remarkable turning point in my life where i was opened to know a lot i didn't know.

Now i know the bad impacts of hate speech and dangers of spreading fake information. I also know how to detect fake information. I live happily with people around me because Change Communications thought me the Ubuntu way of life, "i am, because you are".

I interact a lot with people of different calibers and walks of life in our general whatsapp group "Ubuntu our way". I take exercises and also i get rewarded.

Indeed God bless the day i got in contact with Change Communications.

Long live change Communications

Long live the Ubuntu family
