

The Candidate dramatises the story of Yaje, a young and dynamic female university graduate, who in her tenacity to become the mayor of her village, successfully brings a corrupt and traditionally conservative community to accept and promote democracy.

The radio play highlights various themes: gender insensitivity, cultural dictates, poverty, tyranny, wealth and corruption, democracy and human rights in contemporary society.

Born in Ndu, Donga Mantung Division in North West Region of Cameroon, Josephine Mankfu Talla holds a Master's in Performing Arts, specialised in TV and Film Production, from the University of Yaounde I.

She is a TV producer and director at the Cameroon Radio and Television, CRTV and staff Change Communications.
